Osteopathic

May, 1992

Dear Colleagues:

I want to offer each member of the Class of 1992, the 101st class to graduate from Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine, my sincerest congratulations as you receive your Doctor of Osteopathy degree. You have completed a rigorous program of osteopathic medical education and are well prepared to begin your career as a physician.

As an osteopathic physician you will have virtually unlimited opportunities to play a central role in the evolving health care system of our nation. Your training, and the osteopathic philosophy which undergirds the program of medical education you have successfully completed, will enable you to take a leadership role in adapting the health delivery system of the United States to the new demands being placed on it. I believe the osteopathic profession stands on the threshold of a new era and has much to offer this nation insofar as its health care system is concerned.

Whatever course your career takes, the College remains vitally interested in your success. And it stands ready to be helpful to you in achieving your aspirations in whatever way it can. I will welcome hearing from you at any time if your College can assist you. For our part, we will continue to strive to strengthen our institution and its programs so that we can meet your needs and expectations throughout your career. The success of the College and its graduates are fully intertwined and I am committed to both.

The trustees, faculty and staff, and the thousands of PCOM alumni, join me in congratulating you on your achievements and wishing you much success and happiness in this noblest of all professions.

Fraternally,

Leonard H. Finkelstein, D.O.,

Osteopathic

Congratulations to the Class of 1992 accomplishing your goal as an Osteopathic physician.

As you receive your degree, Doctor of Osteopathy, you can be proud. It commemorates the dedication by you, the many hours of studying and the seemingly endless hours of duties, as you completed your assigned as well as elective clinical clerkship rotations. I am hopeful that we have challenged you and provided you with a viable education program for the future.

The challenges of the future will be great as medical care in the United States is "ever changing." With the increasing technology, we will continue to see advances. A major area will be from the in-patient setting to the ambulatory setting. What ever happens, I feel you are prepared and you will adapt as you have done in the past.

Graduation has its many joys but also a degree of sadness. The interpersonal relationships you have developed will now be separated by time and space. Nurture these relationships as long as you can as they will be sorely missed.

It is hopeful the knowledge and the clinical situations you have been provided with by the faculty will serve you as a basis for continued education. Continue to strive for knowledge.

I'll always remember your class because I became Dean during your freshman year. It has been a privilege to serve as your Dean, it has been a privilege for me to visit with you, discuss your future plans and share some of the enthusiasm you have had. I gained great strength from that.

Thanks for allowing me to be a part of your class. I'll remember you well. You are the greatest, come back and see us.

Best Wishes,
D L Wisely D.O.

HIPPOCRATIC OATH

I swear by Apollo Physician and Asclepios and Hygeia and Panacea and all the gods and goddesses, making them my witnesses, that I will fulfill according to my ability and judgment this oath and covenant:

To hold him who has taught me this art as equal to my parents and to live my life in partnership with him, and if he is in need of money to give him a share of mine, and to regard his offspring as equal to my brothers in male lineage and to teach them this art - if they desire to learn it - without fee and covenant; to give a share of precepts and oral instruction and all the other learning to my sons and the sons of him who has instructed me and to pupils who have signed the covenant and have taken an oath according to the medical law, but to no one else.

I will apply dietetic measures for the benefit of the sick according to my ability and judgment; I will keep them from harm and injustice.

I will neither give a deadly drug to anybody if asked for it, nor will I make a suggestion to this effect. Similarly, I will not give to a woman an abortive remedy. In purity and holiness I will guard my life and my art.

I will not use the knife, not even on sufferers of the stone, but will withdraw in favor of such men as are engaged in this work.

Whatever houses I may visit, I will come for the benefit of the sick, remaining free of all intentional injustice, of all mischief, and in particular of sexual relations with both female and male persons, be they free or slaves.

What I may see or hear in the course of treatment or even outside the treatment in regard to the life of men, which on no account one must spread abroad, I will keep to myself, holding such things shameful to be spoken about.

If I fulfill this oath and do not violate it, may it be granted to me to enjoy life and art, being honored with fame among all men for all time to come; if I transgress it and swear falsely, may the opposite of all this be my lot.

OSTEOPATHIC OATH

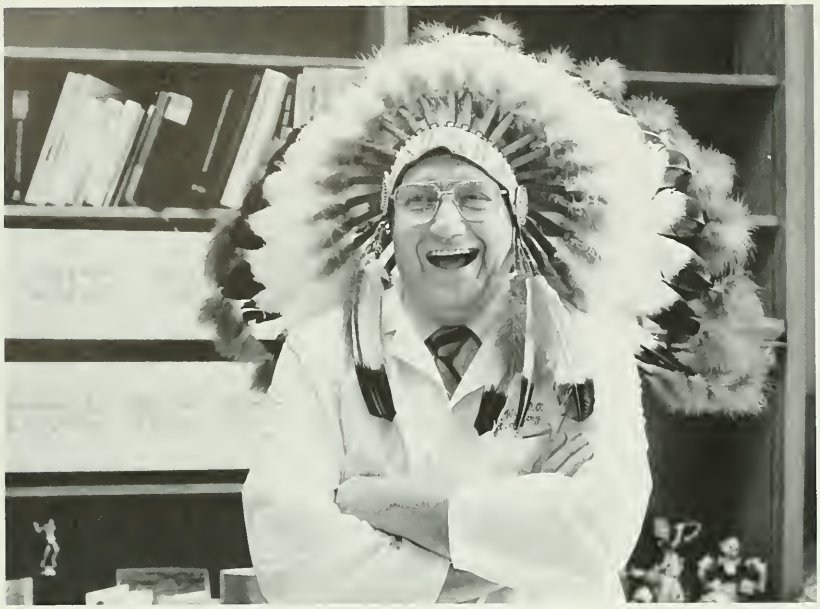
I do hereby affirm my loyalty to the profession I am about to enter.

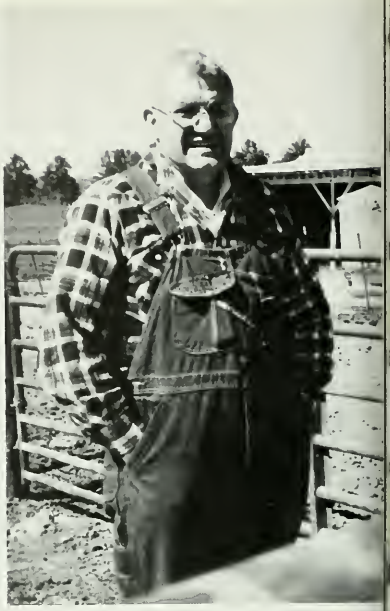
I will be mindful always of my great responsibility to preserve the health and the life of patients, to retain their confidence and respect both as a physician and a friend who will guard their secrets with scrupulous honor and fidelity, to perform faithfully my professional duties, to employ only those methods of treatment consistent with good judgment and with my skill and ability, keeping in mind always nature's laws and the body's inherent capacity for recovery.

I will be ever vigilant in aiding in the general welfare of the community, sustaining its laws and institutions, not engaging in those practices which will in any way bring shame or discredit upon myself or my profession. I will give no drugs for deadly purposes to any person, though it be asked of me.

I will endeavor to work in accord with my colleagues in a spirit of progressive cooperation, and never by word or by act cast imputations upon them of their rightful practices.

I will look with respect and esteem upon all those who have taught me my art. To my college I will be loyal and strive always for its best interests and for the interests of the students who will come after me. I will be ever alert to further application of basic biologic truths to the healing arts and to develop the principles of osteopathy which were first enuciated by Andrew Taylor Still.





Dr. Daniel Wisely

Administrator, surgeon, professor, and friend, Dr. Wisely has played a large part in our education these past four years here at P.C.O.M. He was made Dean during our first year and throughout his tenure, Dr. Wisely was always a student advocate, someone we could turn to with our concerns. He always listened with an open mind and was responsive to our ever changing needs.

Perhaps the way we best remember Dr. Wisely is in the classroom and in the O.R. His euphemisms, and that southern delivery, will remain forever ingrained in our minds: "Don't let the sun go down on an abcess . . . .; The golden hour . . . . .; Never let a little skin get between you and the diagnosis . . . .; Make a hole big enough for a prairie dog to crawl through . . . ." He never missed an opportunity to remind us how proud we should be as D.O.s, and how important osteopathic manipulations could be to our recovering patients.

Dr. Wisely recently announced his retirement for personal reasons, and the yearbook staff could think of few individuals who've had greater impact on our development as physicians and our experience here at P.C.O.M. It is with great pride that we dedicate this edition of Synapsis to Dr. Wisely. We thank him for all his help and guidance, and wish him and his family much happiness and success in the future.

I'd like to thank everyone who made my dreams come true, especially:

My Daddy (My Guardian Angel) - You taught me so much about life: to appreciate lifes smallest treasures, to find the good in everything and everyone, to have pride in myself and my work, and to always look toward the stars - for the sky is the limit. I love you forever, until we meet again on heavens highest hill . . .

My Darling Mother - Mom, you have been my constant support. Without your never-ending love and devotion none of this would have been possible. You have taught all of us the meaning of unconditional love, thank you.

Grammy & Poppy - You were always there for us . . . the heart and soul of our family. I love you and miss you both.

David (Big Brother) - I'll always know when the going gets tough you'll be there to pull us through. We've given mom and dad their share of headaches, but our love will last forever.

Lisa - I'm glad you became a part of our family. You are like the big sister I never had . . . thanks for all the advice.

Caitlin (My Little Didder-Bear) - From the minute you came into our lives you radiated sunshine. You held us together with your smile and exuberance . . . you will always be my special girl.

To my unborn niece or nephew - I am happily awaiting your entry into our world. I am sure that you will bring us all of the joys and excitement your sister has.

Monica (My "Bestest" Friend" in the whole wide universe) - Nothing I could ever do in life would be the same without you. You have been there through thick and thin . . . we've laughed together, cried together, and grown together. No matter where you are, you will always be by my side.

Thank you to all of my family and friends, for without their love and support, my dream would not have become a reality. Dad, through the good and bad, as well as the happy and sad times, you have always been there for me. Thank you for the love and guidance you have shown me during these past 25 years of my life. Diane, thanks for being there for my Dad, and for making him as happy as he is today. Elise, thanks for being my big sister always ready with an open ear to listen when I needed to talk. You are not only the best sister, but the best girlfriend I could ever wish to have. Grandmom and Grandpop, did you ever think that the baby girl for whom you changed diapers would actually become a physician one day?? Thank you both for always believing in me. I love you. All my life a doctor I wanted to be
This was my goal for all to see
  Year after year, school after school
  I continued to feel medicine was really cool
Class after class
I busted my a - -
  My parents & family stood firmly behind me
  all those years
  Always willing to lend their ears
We'll be right behind you they would say
And they still are supportive today
  Finally I got to PCOM, closer to my goal
  Only for the four years to fly by, giving me a new role
From class to the hospital was quite a change
Procedures to learn, rotations to arrange
  Now I am graduating, a doctor I'll be
  I'm proud to have obtained a D.O. degree
Thanks also to Steve who has been a doc now for a year
He kept me happy and lessened my fear.

A special thanks to my brother who has always been a big supporter & who always said "I know you can do it sis!"

I love you all.

In a world of passion, challenges, promise, and aspiration, it is my parents and my sister to whom I owe the greatest thanks and praise; for, it is they who have imbibed me with a certain strength to overcome seemingly insurmountable obstacles. It is they who have prodded me to explore my shortcomings and my strengths. It is their love and continual dedication that nurtures a personal dream to its realization. Above all, it is through their courage and personal example, that I have known "Carpe diem" to be a final reality.

To my parents: Where do I begin to thank the two people who have enabled me to persue this wonderful career? The love you instilled in me enables me not only to smile everyday but to reach out to others and give to them the warmth and love that you've given to me. Your strength and fortitude will be a part of me wherever I go and along with your beliefs, teachings and great morals. The foundation of love and dedication that you laid down for me, I promise to build upon and make you proud wherever I go. It's no wonder every night I thank God for giving me the honor to be your daughter- for as my page shows- you two are the center of my life! I love you both so much!!

To the 3 heartbeats of my existence: Annette, Mark, and Gina: The love and support you've showered upon your baby sister for 28 years has paid off- I hope I'll always make you proud of me! I love you guys!

To the Queen Mother: the reason for my beautiful mother- may the strength that you've always instilled in me enable me to overcome any hurdles that face me in this career- I love you!

Godmother Dottie: who needs legal papers - it's official - you made the page- I love you!

In memory of Tony: you touched my life in a special way and I'll never forget you!!

My beautiful wife, Sherri;

I am very fortunate to have you by my side. You manage to encourage me when things go well and support me when times are tough. It has been difficult to reach this stage of my career and I appreciate all that you've done to ease the way. We've been through a lot together and there is still much more to share. You are a true friend. I love you.

Mom and dad:

I may have disagreed with you at times, but it seems that the older I get, the more right you were. You never doubted me and sometimes you were more confident in me than I was in myself. Thanks for giving me independence and confidence and the flexibility to make my own path. You are my greatest teachers ever.

Mike:

To my brother, teammate and best friend. I feel very lucky to have shared the past 22 years with you. No one could possibly know me like you do. You're the wildest thang I know.

Rhonda and Mike:

You are very special to me. You've always been there when I needed you. I am fortunate to have you in my corner.

Grandmom, Bobbie and Zayda:

You've always seemed to take so much interest in my life. I can never thank you enough for all of your love and support. You've made an everlasting impression on me.

K.B., mom and Bretzy:

I have always felt welcome in your family. You've always seemed to treat me like one of your own. I couldn't ask for nicer in-laws.

To my family,

How can I thank you for all you have given up in order for this to happen. Nothing is more precious than the time we have together. The long test treadmill, the anxiety, the loss of my father and marriage, the cancer diagnosis for Aunt Nomi - all of this was made bearable only because of your love. To Danny I say "your grace, courage, humor and unconditional love sustains my faith in humanity and the belief that our love is worth the trials." To Aunt Nomi, "you gave me the gift of life, you raised me, you taught me through example how to be a good person, to sustain loss with dignity and to see the joy of everyday existence." To Cara and Sam, "your enthusiasm and delight with whatever was happening helped me focus your laughter warmed me, and your hugs, wiping of my tears, and encouragement to continue is why I'm finally a physician." To Dev, "your guidance and respect inspired me and made the journey more bearable." I love you all very much and I'm sorry if I was a little cranky.

If only I could find the words to say thank you for all that you've both done for me; for all of the support that you've given me through the years; for the overwhelming love that you give every day in all that you do; for giving me a life that never knew the pains and sorrows that you both experienced - but most of all, for not only being my parents, but for being my best friends! WE did it! I Love you mom and dad!

THANKS . . .

To my brother Barry, who has shown me that life's greatest accomplishments are earned one day at a time. I only hope that I have the same inner strength to achieve all that you have. And to my sister-in-law Lori- I can't imagine what our lives would be like without you. I hope that someday I find a wife whose as beautiful a person as you are. Thank you both for all that you've done. I Love you guys! And to my niece Lindsay and nephew Barry, who are my constant reminders of what life is all about.

To my "favorite sister" Tammy; you've taught me more about the art of medicine than you'll ever realize. Your hugs helped me through a lot of rough times, and I hope that you never stop giving them! I Love you Tam!

To the countless others at home and at PCOM, who helped make Med school the best years of my life- especially Tom, Brad, Bret, 'Berta, Dave, and most of all Michele. And Andrea, I don't even know where to begin - St. Mike's, next year-be there! Best wishes to all for a Happy and Successful future. I'm really going to miss you guys.

To Tony, wherever you are today, Thank You. Medicine will never know the great loss.

"To laugh often and to love much;
to win respect of intelligent people and the affection of children;
to earn the approbation of honest critics and endure the betrayal of false friends.

"To appreciate beauty;
to find the best in others;
to give one's self;
to leave the world a little bit better,
whether by a healthy child, a garden patch,

and sung with exultation;
to know that even one life has breathed easier because you have lived - this is to have succeeded."

THANKS . . . . .

To my mother for all of the love, patience and support you have given me through the years. As long as I live, I will never be able to repay you for all that you have done for me. Mommy, I love you!!

To Dad . . . "I did it Daddy; I really miss you."

To my children Tanisha, Taesha, Sequia and Kimille. I know that these past four years have been as trying for you as they were for me. I know that I have been difficult to live with at times but I appreciate the way you handled the situation. Your performances in school have been a testimonial to how well you handled it. Each one of you has made me very proud.

To my husband for being the strength and the stability of our family. You did whatever you had to do to make sure that I stayed in school. You have not only been my love, but you are also my very best friend. Your support has helped me to stay trained and focused on my career. Larry, I am very proud to have you for my husband. You are truly one in a million. Thank God for roller skating!!

A SPECIAL THANKS . . . .

To Carol Fox for believing in me enough to persuade the committee to grant me the opportunity to make my dream a reality. Carol, I will never forget you. Thank you so much!!

Reflections . . .
What I do today is important because I am exchanging a day of my life for it. When tomorrow comes, the day will be gone forever-leaving in its place something I have traded for it. I want it to be a gain not a loss; good, not evil; success, not failure, so that I do not regret the price I paid for the price I paid for today.

Thank you mom & dad all of my family & Friends. Thank you for keeping my head together, When it seems like there's not tomorrow. Thank you, I love you all.

Thanks Mom for being my crutch through all these years. You helped make my dream a reality. I love you both!

To the rest of my family-its been a rough road leading up to today, but the real work is about to begin. Thanks for all your support.

Well Gwen it all started in Bob's room and now look where we are! We've come a long way baby! I LOVE YOU and thank you for being part of my life. Let's grow old together HONEY.

Thanks Mr. & Mrs. George (mom & dad) for your love and support.

Thanks Donna for your help and support. You're a good person and I wish you all the best in life.

Lisa- Hey babe, what can I say it hasn't been fun! But without you it wouldn't have been the same. Remember Riverside Rehab. (and you too Joe!) If it wasn't for me your apartment wouldn't be clean, your pictures would still be on the floor, and your car would still be impounded but hey I can't complain! Knock'em dead and make some $!!

To Mom and Dad - Well, now you really have a doctor in the family. Thanks for all your encouragement, support and sacrifice while I was in school. I know it wasn't easy. I guess my biggest thanks should be for "babysitting". I love you both.

To Dianne - My sister, my best friend. Thanks for your support, patience, never-ending encouragement and for always being there these four years. I couldn't have done it without you. Mom and Dad couldn't have given me a better gift than you as my sister.

To Bob - A doctor and a lawyer in the family! How can we miss? Thankyou for everything.

To Joe - Thanks for being there when I needed you, for listening to me, feeding me and for always moving me! I couldn't have a better brother.

To Debbie and Lori - One old friend, one new friend. Both true friends. May all your dreams come true!

To Mark Radbill, D.O. -Well, you started it, I finished it. Thanks for the encouragement.

I dedicate this page to my support system . . .

I thank God for the strength, courage and serenity he has given me, because it is through him that all good things come.
My beautiful Mom: Thank you for your unending support, encouragement and for always believing in me. Your love, patience and strength are a constant source of inspiration to me.
My Dad: Thank you for your wisdom and guidance; much of my perseverance and determination is a direct reflection of the qualities I learned from you.
Norma, Elsa, Conrad, Roy: Thanks for the laughter, the support and for just being there.
Charles- my best friend: Thank you for being my "silent partner", my outspoken partner, my loving and caring partner. You encourage me to be the best that I can be, and I continue to grow and blossom because of it. You have truly played an integral part in making this dream come true.
I LOVE YOU ALL!!

The last four years passed by as though they were a single hectic weekend. 39-9 Revere Road and our indoor/outdoor carpeting without padding and new bundle of joy spanned Friday evening till early Saturday morning. We rushed through 36-6 on Saturday, remaining only long enough to begin our second little life. The walls of 14-5 Valley Road will hold our memories deep inside forever. We laughed and cried here. We rested and played here. Most importantly, though, we loved here. Jimmy's first friends; Victorias' first steps. No matter who follows, these memories remain sacred in our first home. Thank you, Cecelia Marie, without you NONE of this would be reality. I loved you before; I love you now; I will love you forever.

To my classmates, the interns, the residents and the attendings who have been so much help and so much fun to work with.

To my friends, whose insanity has helped me preserve what is left of my sanity.

To my family, for supporting me and having confidence in me at those times when I didn't have it in myself.

Few people are as lucky as I am in life, for God gave me not just a family, but wonderful friends as well! Mom, A.J., Kathy, Karen, and Kelly have been the greatest support system anyone could ask for. I share this accomplishment with you, for without you, it could not have been achieved!

I dedicate my degree to the memory of my father. You once told me to never follow the pack, but be a leader and think for myself. I hope I would have made you proud!

I would also like to thank PCOM for allowing me the opportunity to become a physician. Thank-you to all of the physicians who have dedicated many long hours to my education.

Michael, you have been my best friend and biggest fan. Thank-you for making medical school both a great educational and life experience. Together we have made the long journey, thank-you for sharing it with me. We DID IT!!

And finally for the memory of Tony, I will carry part of your laughter and spirit with me every day. Your candle may have burned out much too soon, but your flame lives on in all whom you touched!

To Mom, Dad, Lisa, Erica, And Jamie: Thanks for always being there when I needed you—paying my bills, driving me to and from Phila. and my rotations all over Pennsylvania, and for just listening to me. I know you all sacrificed a lot for me. I am truly grateful. Thanks again for making my dream of becoming a doctor come true.

To my Gammy: I will always cherish our special relationship. Thanks for believing in me and taking care of me. I love you.

To Michele and Maryanne: Thanks for being such great friends—ever since the minute I walked into Evans Hall that first day. Remember all the movies and the dinners at Chi-Chi's and El Torito's, the shopping trips, the phone calls for help, our first night in Wernersville, and Laporte. Good luck in both of your careers and let's always keep in touch.

To Mr. and Mrs. Greb—My "other parents": Thanks for always caring about me, for all the great food, and for your son.

And finally to Eric— my love and my best friend: Well, hon, we made it!! You have truly been my strength these past few years. It was you who kept me sane and gave me "a life" outside of medical school. It hasn't always been easy, especially with us always being apart, but now we can finally be together. Look to this day,
For it is life,
The very life of life
In its brief course lie all
The realities and verities of existence,
The bliss of growth,
The splendor of action,
The glory of God —

For yesterday is but a dream,
And tomorrow is only a vision.
But today, well lived,
Makes every yesterday a dream of happiness
And every tomorrow a vision of hope.

Look well, therefore, to this day

I wish to dedicate my life in medicine to those who have made it possible:

my family, my sisters Page and Emily, the Pricolis and Wiselys for their support and understanding, Cdr. Frank Morris, Dr. Lelrer, Dr. Vernalis, Dr. Triana for their persistence; my honey, Dr. Walter Ehrenfuchter, who loves me as I love him- unconditionally; VADM Zimble for the opportunity to excel; my patients and friends, some of whom have gone before us- if love were sufficient medicine, they never would have died:

Valentine and Felix Sachznen
Ben and Bill Seltzer
Gene and Myrna Wolmzn
Captain and Aunt Lilyan Stott

Promise yourself to be so strong that nothing can disturb your peace of mind. To talk health, happiness and prosperity to every person you meet. To make all your friends feel that there is something in them. To look at the sunny side of everything and make your optimism come true. To think only of the best, to work only for the best and expect only the best. To be just as enthusiastic about the success of others as you are about your own. To forget the mistakes of the past and press on to the greater achievements of the future. To wear a cheerful countenance at all times and give every living creature you meet a smile. To give so much time to the improvement of yourself that you have no time to criticize others. To be too large for worry, too noble for anger, too strong for fear and too happy to permit the presence of trouble.

THANKS

To God for His faithfulness to me during these past difficult eight years. For making my crooked paths straight. "God who hath saved us and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to His own purpose and grace." Timothy 1:9

To my husband Michael for loving me and putting his own career plans on the "backburner" in order to help me fulfill my dream of becoming a doctor. I could not have made these past four years without you. You're the best!"

To my mother for teaching me to dream and for dreaming with me. For teaching me never to settle for "second best." Your love and support have given me strength these past eight years.

To my father and three brothers for always keeping me humble. For all your help with the little things; no matter how aggravating the task. You guys are the greatest!

To my grandparents for your unconditional love and support.

To Mom and Dad Malone for teaching me to never give up on myself.

To my eleven nieces and nephews for keeping me young at heart and helping me to remember to take time to smell the flowers.

To Mark Blakeslee, D.O. for making all the work of college so much fun. For all of your good advice the last eight years. For being such a great friend.

ANTHONY DiMICHELE

To try and capture the essence of Tony and put it on paper is to try and capture the wind. At times he could be blustery and loud, and others soft and sensitive. To be around Tony was to expect the unexpected, his quick wit and sense of humor would get him both into and out of many sticky situations. Not all who knew him loved him, for he was intensely loyal and would defend himself vehemently. He could bring out the best and worst in people in seconds, and then leave them laughing.

Tony will be remembered for loving his mother and brother with all his soul, and being the best canoe captain on Huck Finn's river ride that Disneyland ever had. He was a passionate defender of the merits of organic chemistry and he had a deep love of medicine. When Tony was diagnosed with leukemia at the completion of our first year of medical school, many would have given up on their dreams of becoming a physician. Tony kept his convictions however, and despite chemotherapy and a bone marrow transplant, he returned to P.C.O.M. the following spring semester.

Tony was grateful for all the P.C.O.M. community's love and support, but we as his friends, are as grateful for his contribution to us. The class of 1992 was lucky to have had Tony as one of it's members, for he taught us not about death, but about living! We will each carry with us a small piece of the experience that was knowing Anthony DiMichele.

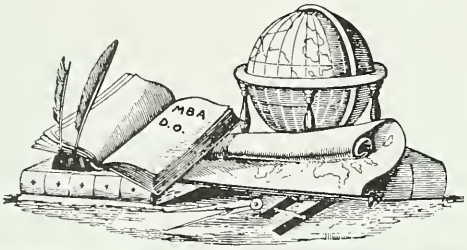
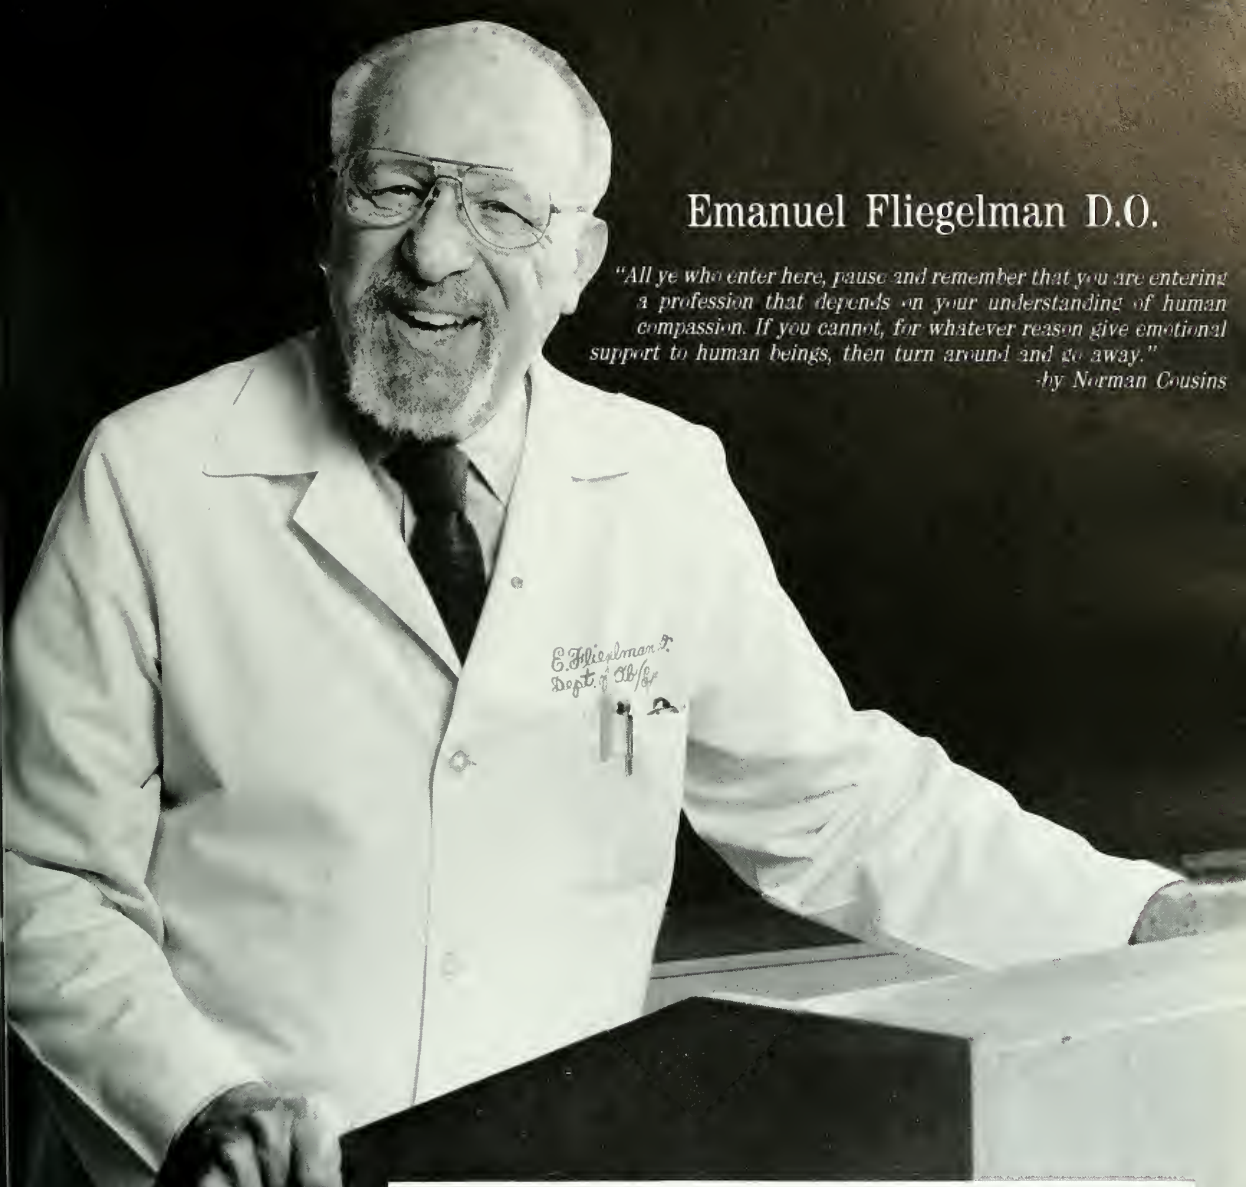
D.O./M.B.A. PROGRAM

P.C.O.M. and St. Joseph's University co-sponsored a joint degree program of Master of Business and Doctor of Osteopathy. This program was created in 1989 as the nation's first D.O./M.B.A. program. It was developed in response to the increasing need for business knowledge in medical practice, and to prepare physicians for a wide range of emerging careers in medical business administration. We salute our former classmates on their academic success:

Robert Engelhardt
Phillip Passes
Melissa Snyder
Kenneth Williams





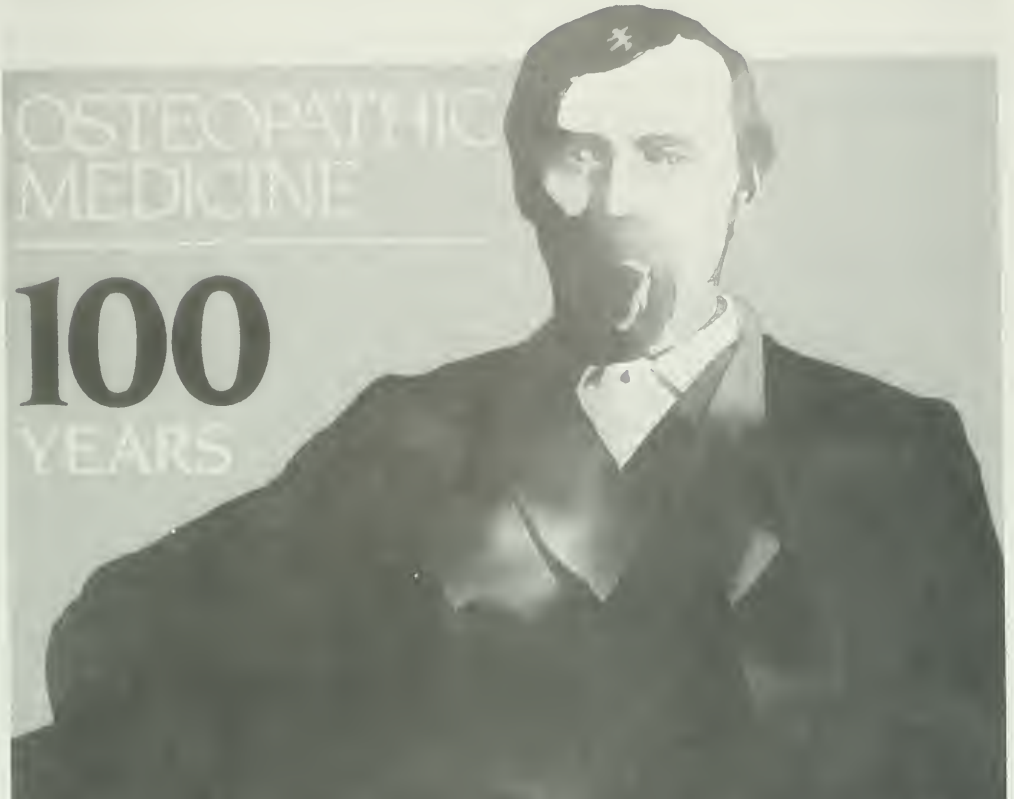
Emanuel Fliegelman D.O.

"All ye who enter here, pause and remember that you are entering a profession that depends on your understanding of human compassion. If you cannot, for whatever reason give emotional support to human beings, then turn around and go away."
-by Norman Cousins

Dr. "Manny" Fliegelman shared this quote with us on our very first morning at P.C.O.M. He spoke to us on that orientation day, and reminded us that three words should concern us as we went about our medical education; PROFESSION, PATIENT, and COMPASSION. He reminded us to communicate with our patients, to empathize with them, to touch them, and to never be afraid to care about our patients. His words were put into action as he educated us in the second year classroom during the ob-gyn didactic course, and when he personally instructed us on the proper way to perform a pelvic exam with his model patient, Doris. Only Dr. Fliegelman could take the edge off of an extremely nerve wracking day, your first pelvic exam!

Dr. Fliegelman has contributed much to this PCOM community. He established PCOM's human sexuality curriculum, has been a full professor in ob-gyn since the 1970's, served on the OMCP Board of Trustees from 1985 to 1988 and is a member of the OMCP Credentials and Intern Selection Committees. His talents have not been confined to PCOM alone however, for he has also taught at both the New England and West Virginia Colleges of Osteopathic Medicine. Within his specialty Dr. Fliegelman was a member of the Board of Trustees of the American College of Osteopathic Obstetricians and Gynecologists, and chaired several committees. He continues to serve on the Board of Directors for Planned Parenthood of Southeastern Pennsylvania, and is on the advisory board of Physicians for Social Responsibility.

On Saturday January 25th, 1992 PCOM honored Dr. Fliegelman with the O.J. Snyder Memorial Medal. This medal is meant to honor a man who "put the cause of osteopathic medicine above personal considerations." It is the highest award PCOM bestows on any of it's members and truly a fitting one for a doctor who dedicated his life to service in medicine and education of it's members! The 1992 Synapsis yearbook would like to congratulate Dr. Fliegelman on this honor and thank him for his time, effort, and dedication to education!



One hundred years ago, Andrew Taylor Still planted the seed and founded the first American school of Osteopathy in Kirksville, Missouri. That class of twenty-two students would mark the first physicians to be educated and trained in the Osteopathic tradition. Their strong beliefs in the merits of Osteopathy became our roots that expanded and lead to the creation of other Osteopathic medical schools and the spread of our philosophy on medicine and healing.

Today the fruition of our predecessors' efforts are fifteen colleges of Osteopathic medicine and over 32,000 practicing D.O.'s in the United States. We continue to be one of the fastest growing medical professions in the U.S. We have earned recognition and accreditation in all fifty states, and certification in all sub-specialties of medicine. Still, the main focus of Osteopathic training and practices over our first century, has traditionally been on the holistic approach of primary care, and today, approximately 63% of all D.O.'s are in family/general practice. In our second century of medical care, we will see major strides in the expansion and public recognition of our profession, as well as great advances in medicine which will further influence toward specialization. It will be interesting to see if future generations of D.O.'s will be swayed by these currents of specialization, or if primary care will remain the hallmark of our profession.

The centennial celebration of Osteopathic Medicine offers all D.O.'s the opportunity to re-embrace our philosophy, what makes us unique as healers, and what that distinction means to each of us as practicing physicians. It is critical that we look to our future, remembering our past with pride and promoting our philosophy as not just an alternative, but as a better way. Our future is within our grasp, united, using our trained healing hands, as the physicians who touch.

year in Review

January 1991 began uneasily with an explosive start. On January 16th Desert Shield became Desert Storm as the air war began on Iraq. The world sat glued to their T.V.'s as the media age brought the war into your living room. SCUDS and PATRIOTS became common terms, as missiles were launched by both sides. Norman Schwarzkopf, commander of the Allied forces would direct the military battles and conquer the Iraqi army in a matter of days. The liberation of Kuwait was joyful, but the path of destruction left by Saddam Hussein would be devastating. He would remain in power in Iraq, a presence questioned by many around the world.

World politics would shift dramatically in 1991. In August a coup attempt in the Soviet Union would be the first sign of a changing political atmosphere. Mikhail Gorbachev would emerge from the coup still in power, but not for long. On Christmas Day 1991, he would resign and the Soviet Union as it was formerly known would be dissolved. In it's place would come the Commonwealth of Independent Soviet States with Boris Yeltsin as the new President. Yeltsin would face many challenges, not the least among them the food and fuel shortages across the country.

The economics recession which gripped the U.S. would cause numerous layoffs, plant closings, and thousands to fear for their homes. In the wake of the S & L scandal, Bush was seen as providing poor domestic policy. The U.S. would commemorate the bombing of Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941. Many would fear that although the Japanese had lost 50 years ago, they were now winning the economic war.

The political scene was filled with the usual monkey-business we expect in an election year. Gov. Bill Clinton would be accused of infidelity, while his wife vowed to "stand by her man". Politics would sink to a new low in November 1991 as David Duke, former Grand Wizard of the Klu-Klux-Klan would run for governor of Louisiana. He would be defeated in a landslide.

Hostages including Joseph Cicippio and Terry Anderson would be freed after 5 years of captivity in November 1991. They were welcomed home as heroes.

"And justice for all . . ." had a new ring in 1991. Sexual harrassment was brought to the medias' attention by the Supreme Court nomination of Clarence Thomas. Former aide Anita Hill would allege a history of harrassment while working with Thomas. The rape trial of William Kennedy Smith would create a media circus around the question of confidentiality of rape victims. Abortion would continue to be a controversial topic as Pennsylvania instituted some of the strictest anti-abortion statutes in the country.

HIV and AIDS would become growing health concerns in 1991-1992. Magic Johnson would announce his retirement from pro-basketball, and become a spokesperson for AIDS.

In the world of entertainment, the stars of stage, screen, and sound would keep the gossip wheels spinning. Julia Roberts would break off her engagement to Keifer Sutherland 3 days before their wedding, and then reappear as Tinkerbell a few weeks later. Elizabeth Taylor would try her 8th walk down the aisle at Michael Jackson's estate. And speaking of Michael or is that Janet . . is it black or white? Pee Wee Herman would give new meaning to the phrase "Big Adventure" in a Fla. movie house. At the movies, JFK would cause an unprecedented stir as Oliver Stone depicted one theory of JFK's assassination. Jodie Foster would win the Oscar for Silence of the Lambs.

In 1992, the world would look forward to the Olympics in Spain and France. Other sports news would include the Minnesota Twins remarkable turn around. They'd finish in last place in 1990 only to win the World Series in 1991. The Super Bowl would be dominated by the Redskins as they rolled over Buffalo.

The faces that we lost in 1991, but would never forget included: Harry Reasoner, Jim Henson, Michael Landon and of course Frank Rizzo. Oh what a year it was!!

EDITOR'S LETTER

SYNAPSIS, our school's yearbook, has been a tradition for many years here at the Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine. Over the years it has evolved to more than just a yearbook which features the graduating class. It has become a theme of Osteopathic education and history. It conveys our past and our present, as well as our future. Every year a small group of students volunteer their time and talent in undertaking the monumental task of composing SYNAPSIS. This book is a testament to their creativity and collective effort.

When we volunteered for this task, we all underestimated the amount of work involved. Most of us had minimal or no experience in publishing, and had no idea how complicated, arduous, and time consuming this project would become. Looking back, I still can't believe we made all of our deadlines.

The creative process and planning stages started towards the end of our junior year. Once our group of seventeen was assembled, and the project began to unfold, we put medicine aside for several hours every week and became graphic artists, illustrators, layout artists, and photographers. In order to achieve our goals and meet all of our deadlines, we had to first learn the system, be very organized, and work closely together as a unit. Well, we weren't all that organized, especially in the beginning. You might even say we were a slightly chaotic, and working closely sometimes created a little madness. On top of that, key members of our staff were absent for periods of time due to distant rotations, which made coordination that much more difficult. Somehow, we persevered and things were done. When we look back on the whole project, we all feel a sense of pride and accomplishment and we can even say it was fun, in fact certain members of our staff got the opportunity to take photographs from a helicopter flying above the city. Helen and her fingers will never forget!

There are certain people that deserve special mention. Helen McCullough and Michele Frech were my left and right arm, for without them, none of the work would have been accomplished. They labored many weekends putting the final touches on pages, checking and re-checking material for Monday deadlines. Helen was appointed treasurer and spearheaded the fund-raising efforts and ad campaign. The added revenue allowed us to make this year's book special, without having to worry about whether we could afford it. Michele excelled in organizational skills, and worked as the keen trouble-shooter able to detect unforseeable problems before they occurred. She also worked with all of us on various sections that needed her order approach. She kept us focused and on our toes.

If help were a sense, then Frank Nikolaidis would be sight. Blessed with artistic foresight, Frank created multiple works of art for the yearbook as well as reproducing his "toons" for posterity. We were all appreciative of his creative input and his sense of humor which helped to ease the stress and put things in better perspective.

Others who gave up their Monday Night Football for the "good of the book" and helped with the senior pages, photography, design, and fund-raising include; Mike Duzy, Emil Abdalla, Ellen Wood, Debbie and Joyce Wanglee, Jay Kernus, Linda Bullock, Dave Wald, Melanie Rheinheimer, Anne Palumbo, Barb Williams, Christina Michael, and Greg and Tracy Christiansen. Many thanks to Kelly Hebeler for all her typing help. I would also like to thank Audrey in Creative Services for all the time and effort she contributed to this project. Furthermore, we as a group, would like to thank those classmates who submitted their pages on time and made our job a little easier. We regret any omissions or errors regarding information appearing in the yearbook. We made every attempt to be as accurate as possible.

In retrospect, it has been a very rewarding and satisfying experience. I hope you'll take the time to go through this book and appreciate the work and effort required to bring it all together.

Sincerely,

Angelo A. Andonakakis, D.O.

Together, we can make a world of difference.

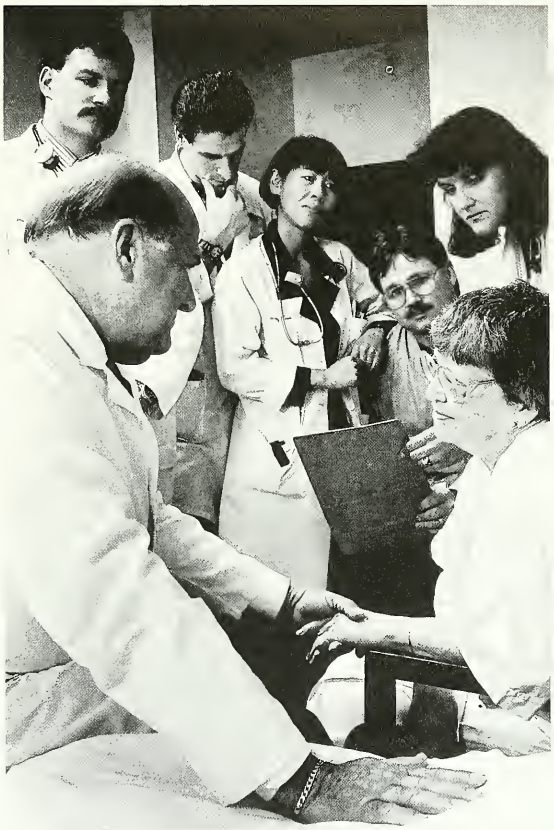
At Botsford, you'll have the opportunity to help people by using what you've learned. But you'll also be able to use the latest technology while you train in your choice of 20 specialties in a challenging setting.

Botsford is known nationally as a leading osteopathic teaching hospital. Each year, over 120 interns and residents enhance the high quality care provided by our staff of more than 350 physicians.

We offer a wide range of specialty and sub-specialty programs as well as alternate and specialty track internships in OB/GYN, Internal Medicine and special emphasis in Family Practice. Our affiliation with Michigan State University College of Osteopathic Medicine gives you additional access to the latest research in diagnostic and therapeutic technology.

The continued growth of Botsford is a reflection of the expanding health needs of the community it serves. We invite you to grow with us.

At Botsford, we believe that making a difference in the world starts in our community.



Please call the Medical Education Office at (313) 471-8224, for information on our comprehensive benefits package and information regarding the following programs: Anesthesia, Cardiology, Emergency Medicine, Gastroenterology, Family Practice, General Surgery, Infectious Disease, Internal Medicine, Medical Diseases of the Chest, Nephrology, Neurology, Obstetrics/Gynecology, Ophthalmology, Orthopedic Surgery, Otorhinolaryngology/Orofacial Plastic Surgery, Pathology, Peripheral Vascular Surgery, Podiatry, Radiology, Urologic Surgery.

MEDICAL BULLETIN

SPECIAL EDITION

Some of America's Brightest Osteopathic Medical Students Are Becoming Its Brightest Doctors at Union Hospital

How does a teaching hospital measure the worth of its medical education program?

It is measured by its commitment to education. . . by the expertise of its medical staff. . . and by its record of success in the health care field.

Union Hospital's commitment to education is evidenced by the key role its interns play on each physician's team. The expertise of its medical staff ensures that the Hospital maintains a high patient census, allowing interns to become involved in direct patient management not only on the medical floors, but also in the critical care areas. Union Hospital's record of success means that interns and residents are constantly exposed to innovation in technology, patient care and health services.

With 18 approved internship positions, and a medical education program consisting of 300 teaching beds, Union Hospital invites you to shape your professional goals amid the setting of a nationally-recognized community hospital.

Residency programs are provided in:

- Internal Medicine
- General Practice
- Emergency Medicine
- Proctology
- General Surgery
- Otolaryngology/Facial Plastic Surgery
